

DISCLAIMER

- a) This inspection is a visual and electronic diagnostic assessment only. It is advisory in nature and does not constitute a mechanical warranty, guarantee, certification, or assurance of the vehicle's future condition or performance.
- b) The inspection reflects the condition of the vehicle solely at the time of inspection. InspectMyCar is not responsible for any changes, damage, defects, replacements, cleaning, polishing, handling, storage, transit, test drives, or delivery activities carried out after the inspection by the dealership or any third party.
- c) The inspection is non-invasive. No dismantling, removal of components, destructive testing, or specialized internal examination is performed. Latent, concealed, or non-visible defects that cannot be identified through standard inspection procedures are outside the scope of this service.
- d) Inspection findings may be affected by environmental conditions including lighting, reflections, shadows, dust, dirt, weather, or restricted accessibility. Minor scratches, swirl marks, paint imperfections, or cosmetic defects may not always be visible or individually reported unless considered significant by the inspector.
- e) While every reasonable effort is made to conduct a thorough inspection, the service is performed by qualified human inspectors and remains subject to reasonable human limitations. Unintentional omissions or missed observations may occur despite best efforts.
- f) Customers are responsible for ensuring that the vehicle is available for inspection with adequate access, sufficient lighting, and reasonable cleanliness. Any limitations affecting inspection quality may influence the observations recorded in this report.
- g) Inspection findings are based on visual observations, photographs, electronic diagnostics, and information recorded during the inspection. Any dispute or claim must be supported by clear evidence and reported within 24 hours of receiving the inspection report. InspectMyCar reserves the right to verify such claims against its recorded inspection data.
- h) To the maximum extent permitted by applicable law, InspectMyCar shall not be liable for any indirect, incidental, consequential, or special damages, including loss of use, profits, business, revenue, anticipated savings, or opportunity arising from the use of this report.
- i) By using this inspection report, the customer acknowledges that the inspection represents a best-effort evaluation performed within the limitations described above and agrees to these terms.

For the complete Terms of Service, please visit:
www.inspectmycar.in